RICHARD SAPPER

Born in Germany in 1932, Richard Sapper created the Tizio desk lamp for Artemide in 1972. This now-classic design has gone on to become one of the best-selling light fixtures ever produced. A prolific designer who famously turned down Steve Jobs offer of a job at Apple, Sapper died in 2015. Over a varied career spent designing everything from cars for Fiat to IBM's first ThinkPad to multiple items for Alessi, he made a point of reducing technically- difficult design problems into concise, approachable items.

ICONIC

As an icon of Italian design, Tizio graces the permanent collections of The Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Modern Art in New York. It stands proud amongst the most celebrated icons of modern lighting, effortlessly blending function with style.

IDENTITY

Tizio identifies strongly with Artemide's Human Light philosophy that places men and the pursuit of their well being at the core of research and development.

VISIONARY

Tizio was designed by industrial designer Richard Sapper in 1972. The sophisticated principle of fully adjustable balanced counterweights, lack of wires, and electrical conductor arms have made Tizio an illustrious award-winning design of the 20th century.
